TRIP HIGHLIGHTS

- Bhutanese culture
- Buddhist culture
- A country beyond your imagination
- Peace and clear way

Also known as Chomalhari trek this intimate wilderness trek offers a great variety of trekking conditions, from remote farmland and blue pine forests, to alpine pastureland and breathtaking mountain views. This trek is considered one of the most scenic treks in Bhutan, offering amazing views of some of the most pristine and unspoiled landscapes in Bhutan. This fourteen day, 217 km journey begins at Drukgyel in Paro and takes you through gorgeous alpine meadows, high mountain passes and dense sub-tropical jungles.

Along the trail you'll be able to spot indigenous animals such as blue sheep and Takins, the national animal of Bhutan. From the ruins of Drukgyal Dzong (fortress of the Victorious Drukpas), below such beautiful peaks, you will hike through the heart of wildlife-rich. The sky-piercing peaks, thunderous waterfalls, turquoise lakes and streams, meadows filled with wildflowers, remote yak herder villages, and forests of rhododendron, pine, juniper and fir provide the perfect backdrop for this inspiring and challenging adventure.
